

Analysys Mason's Stockholm office expands company's telecoms consulting and research footprint in Europe

September 2017

Analysys Mason press office

Analysys Mason is delighted to announce further expansion in Europe with a new office in Stockholm, building on the recent acquisition of Nexia Management Consulting in Norway.

The Stockholm office and team will be headed by Nils Petter Tetlie who has more than 20 years' experience in telecoms consultancy.

Nils Petter has helped operators with strategy and implementation within broadcast, media and telecoms industry. He has extensive experience in marketing management, trade sales negotiation, budgeting, business planning and operations management.

Nils Petter has held numerous senior positions ranging from network director to board member for high-profile fixed broadband and mobile operations.

The Stockholm office will assist telecoms and media operators with mergers and acquisitions, change management, digital initiatives, spectrum auction support, and help telcos with network and commercial operations enhancement.

"The Stockholm office will work closely with Analysys Mason's global network of consulting and research experts across Europe, the Middle East, Asia and the Americas to help our clients through the toughest business challenges. The addition of this office shows ongoing commitment to Analysys Mason's global expansion plans," comments Bram Moerman, CEO of Analysys Mason.

Finn Terje Schøyen, Head of Analysys Mason's Oslo office, added: "We are delighted to welcome Nils Petter on board and will work closely with him to rapidly build up our presence in Sweden, serving both existing clients as well as new.

"I am looking forward to working with the consulting and research experts of Analysys Mason to address the business challenges in the telecoms, media and tech industry in Sweden," added Nils Petter.